

Head of Culture and Communications

At ClwydAlyn we put people at the heart of our business. Working across North Wales, we continue to be on our exciting journey delivering our bold ambition ‘together, to beat poverty’. You will be joining us at the perfect time as we develop our next five-year corporate plan. Everything we do will continue to be based on our values of trust, kindness and hope.

To support our journey, we’re looking for a Head of Culture and Communications to join our team.

An important strand of our cultural change work is to develop and embed an inclusive, values led approach to how we identify and grow key talent across the organisation supported by our new leadership development programme.

Great communications underpin everything we do, over recent years we have transformed our approach to marketing and communications, this role will build on the foundations we have in place.

I am keen to hear from you if you have proven experience in leading culture change, strategic talent management or communications in a values-based organisation and want to make a direct contribution to the staff and communities we support.

Please take a look at the overview of the role on our website; if you are interested and would like to understand more, let’s have an initial conversation. My contact details are:
